

The Wymering School Newsletter

Dear Families,

Welcome back, and to our new families welcome to Wymering!

We were truly excited to see children return last week, it's so good to have them back. This week has seen the whole school preparing for current pupils to join their new classes. Change can be really difficult for our children to manage so they have been exploring all kinds of change and learning that change can be a positive experience.

Our new pupils have started to visit this week, meeting new staff, seeing their learning areas, sharing their likes and preferences. Each visit counts for so much and they should feel so proud of how well they have managed a very new and different experience.

Once pupils have moved to their new classes teachers will be sending home newsletters to share what pupil's learning will be this half term and ways in which families can get involved.

We look forward to working with you all.

Sally Rogers, Headteacher

Transition week at The Wymering School

This week is transition week at Wymering. Our children are getting ready to move to their new classes and classrooms. Children have had visual aids and social stories to help them prepare for moving to a new class. We've also been exploring the concept of change in a much wider way. Scientific experiments have been conducted to look at changing states of matter, what changes are permanent and irreversible, what things in life change and what stays the same. This has led to healthy discussions about change and appreciating that sometimes change can help us. Trusting, secure relationships help us to navigate changes and watching children returning to school it was evident to see that pupils and staff had formed strong bonds. Enjoy looking at some of the photos from this week which show some of their learning and a lot of the fun they've had since coming back to school.
