This half term in Langstone...

Our Big Topic - Citizen Me

Identifying roles in the community and own sense of identity and individualism

As our class group transition from their previous groups to Langstone we have started to explore the topic of Identity.

My name is Ashleigh and I am going to be the teacher of Langstone for the next year. I am very excited to start this journey with the students and am excited to discover and learn about them as individuals. We have started the year by decorating our learning environment and encouraging the students to feel like it is their learning space. We have started to explore our topic of 'Citizen Me' by creating zentangle handprints using a range of media consisting of paint, pens and coloured pencils. We have also started a class competition to see who can grow the biggest pumpkin Christmas pumpkin that is. I'm not sure they will be ready for Halloween.

My name is Ashleigh and I am the Langstone Harbour teacher. I enjoy being outside and going on adventures. I also love Art, so am very creative. Lets see what we get up to this half term!

How you can support at home:

- for Langstone members to interview members of their family to see how they remember Portsmouth and how it has changed
- to discuss interests and bring in some photos of things that Langstone me members like to go outside of school
